SUMMARY OF IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS IN FAR OFF NORTHLAND.

ITEMS FROM THE OLD HOME

Resume of the Most Important Events in Sweden, Norway and Denmark—Of Interest to the Scandinavians in America.

If the present plans do not miscarry Sweden, Denmark, Greece and Rumania and perhaps Switzerland, are to be brought into the projected central European customs union which naturally will be dominated by Germany.

Count Reventlow, an international authority on naval affairs, has seen fit to size up the position of Scandinavia in the great war. Norway and Denmark, he says, are no longer independent, neutral states. Under the pressure of the commercial policy and control of England they have no will of their own. Several months ago it was said that the most powerful men in Norway were the British ambassador, and a great Copenhagen daily has named it down as a fact that the new commercial and political agreement with England places Denmark at the mercy of England. A prominent Swede who recently visited Denmark wrote in the Stockholm Dagblad that the present sentiment of the Danish people is complete resignation. All classes are hostile to Germany, chiefly because Germany started the war and violated the neutrality of Belgium. The Danes are getting into the habit of thinking this way because England is too powerful, and because it would be dangerous to think differently. Denmark, says the Swede, takes the position that Germany will be beaten and divided up. Most of the Norwegians entertain the same view. These two countries have given up themselves and are getting into the habit of being handled as the subjects of England and Russia. They assert no will of their own. They are patiently waiting for what these two great powers will do for them and what chances they will give them. The Swede finds that the position of Norway and Denmark may be a menace to Sweden. The Swedes are coming to the conclusion that a free and independent Sweden can be only beneficial to Germany. The great bulk of the Swedish people are proud of their independence and guard it with a jealous eye. Not so the other Scandinavian countries. They are drifting farther and farther away from Sweden, and there is no longer such a thing as a Scandinavian solidarity in this conflict. There is much truth in what this Swede says.

DENMARK.

Motorship construction is developing with extraordinary rapidity in Denmark, which took the lead in the building of this class of seagoing vessels when it successfully completed the Selandia a few years ago. Since that time a great increase has been brought about in the size of motorships. The Selandia was 375 feet in length, had engines of 3,500 horse power and displaced 7,000 tons. At present one yard alone is engaged on the construction of a number of motor yachts, each of which is to displace 12,000 tons, to be 500 feet in length and to have motors of 6,000 horse power. The same firm has orders for 50 motor ships and its slips will be fully occupied with them until the end of 1921.

The Scandinavian Pencil Wood company is going to open a factory at Kjøge for the preparation of Danish willow, poplar, alder and basswood as a substitute for cedar for making lead pencils. The treatment has been invented by a Dane. The same inventor has also succeeded in treating Swedish birch in such a manner that it may substitute mahogany, teak, white wood, or walnut. Swedish birch treated according to this method has been tested for eight years without signs of deterioration. The Danish Teak company is going to exploit the lumber invention at Kjøge.

The United Steamship company has distributed a dividend of 25 per cent for the year 1920. The directors set aside $1,200,000 for taxes and other expenditures and added $2,850,000 to the reserve fund. A balance of $140,000 was forwarded to the account of this year. In view of the fact that the company has been in existence just 50 years, $2,700,000 was set aside as a jubilee fund, the interest of which is to go to needy people who have been in the service of the company, or to their children.

NORWAY.

It has been mentioned on several occasions that the heads of the cabinets of the Scandinavian countries recently held a meeting at Amalienborg, Copenhagen. No decorations of honor were distributed on this occasion. Weeks afterwards it leaked out that the reason for this strange omission was that Premier Gunnar Rasmussen of Norway has always refused to carry such trinkets. The king of Denmark waived the "show of honors" in honor of the republican principles of his Norwegian guest.

Signal Hæsen, the son of the poet, is in this country, having a quantity of all things to give away. Last winter he could not get the goods delivered unless he would make an affidavit to the effect that he would use the oil himself. The document handed to him was made out to "Signal Hæsen" and he was allowed to take the oil. This was too much for him, and he said he would rather let the English have the oil than sign such a humiliating document.

WARNS FARMERS WHO RAISE CORN

THE M. A. C. TESTS SHOW SERIOUS CONDITION AND HOW TO PREVENT GREAT LOSS.

DANGER IN SELECTING SEED

How to Secure Good Seed and Why That Also Will Save Losses of Many Thousands of Dollars.

East Lansing—With the planting season but a few weeks away, Michigan farmers are confronted by one of the most serious corn seed shortages ever felt in this state. The situation is such, according to farm crop authorities of the Michigan Agricultural college, that losses which may run into hundreds of thousands of dollars are seen. If extraordinary precautions are not exercised by farmers in the selection of seed for the coming season's crop, in view of conditions as they have been found to prevail throughout the state, the college is issuing a "first and" bulletin to advise agriculturists as to measures most likely to be of value in minimizing the seed shortage danger.

The bulletin, which has been given out in based on information gathered during the course of a state-wide survey of the seed corn situation. "On account of the continued cold and wet weather during the summer of 1919, the corn crop made a much slower growth than usual, and with few exceptions, failed to mature. "In order to determine the seriousness of the seed corn situation, the department of farm crops made a seed corn survey in representative sections in ten counties in southern Michigan. Inquiries were made as to the amount of seed corn available, and samples were secured for germination tests.

"While results varied somewhat in different sections, the conclusions were found to be very unsatisfactory in all of the ten counties. It was found that only 50 per cent of the farmers had saved seed corn. Many of these had not saved enough for their own use, and much of that which had been saved was not fit for planting. The average per cent of the seed corn saved was 50 per cent.

"It is readily seen from these figures that the seed corn situation in Michigan is very serious. If a survey of the seed corn situation in the other nine counties of the state, it is not unlikely that the results will be similar. Michigan farmers, the coming seasons, unless an unusual effort is made by all corn growers to procure the best possible seed corn. If a satisfactory supply cannot be located, application may be made to the Michigan Agricultural college, or to county agents. "The seriousness of the seed corn situation is not generally appreciated, and it is feared that many farmers will have very thin stands which will produce only a small percentage of the normal crop. It is important that every corn grower who has not already done so, should test his seed corn at once."

IGEL'S OFFICE NOT GERMAN PROPERTY

Seized Papers Will Not Be Returned to German Ambassador.

New York—Evidence presented before the federal grand jury investigating the alleged plot to destroy the Welland canal established, according to federal authorities, that Captain Franz von Papen's former office at 60 Wall street was not a branch of the German embassy when Wolfe von Igel was arrested there April 18 and papers claimed by the German ambassador seized. The papers now are in the custody of the department of justice in Washington. They were sent to the capital by United States District Attorney Marshall, at the request of the state department, after Ambassador von Bernstorff's demand for their return on the ground that they were seized on German territory.

Attorney General Gregory and the local prosecuting officers insisted that the former office of von Papen was not German territory. The state department announced that the return of the papers rested on this point. It also had an important bearing, it was said, on the status of von Igel, whose release the German ambassador demanded, representing that he became a member of the embassy staff in December, 1915, Assistant United States Attorney Roger B. Wood, in charge of the prosecution, is understood to be confident that as a result of testimony, von Igel will have to stand trial and that the papers will not be returned. His belief is based, it was learned, on the story told the grand jurors by Arthur A. Hessel, of Plainfield, N. J., employed by a real estate firm as the agent for 60 Wall street.

Hessel, it was said, identified the leased for von Papen's office. On the lease, dated June 1, 1915, to expire May 1, next, at an annual rental of $2,300, was the signature of Wolfe von Igel, as lessee. Swearing before a notary public, von Igel stated in the document that the rooms are to be used by him "as an advertising agent and for no other purpose."

The foregoing dispatch suggests a plot involving Sir Roger Casement to arm the pro-German Irish element in Ireland and incite a revolution against British rule, with the purpose also of aiding Germany.

Almost since the war began, Sir Roger, the leader of the pro-German Irish, has been living in Germany. He has frequently declared himself publicly against Great Britain's policy in the war and has appealed to the Irish to seize the opportunity to revolt.

In July, 1915, German dispatches said that the British government had tried to kidnap Sir Roger and return him to England for prosecution. It was asserted that documents had been found which indicated that the British minister to Norway, Mansfield de C. Pimley, had offered a bribe to Sir Roger's servant to betray him into the hands of British agents.

Unofficial dispatches more than a year ago said that a price of $25,000 had been placed on Sir Roger's head by the British government.

Sir Roger, before the war, was in the British consular service, having held posts in Portuguese West Africa, the Congo Free State, Haiti, San Domingo and Brazil.

In November, 1914, it was reported that Sir Roger, who was the leader of the separatist faction in Ireland, had gone to Berlin and conferred with the German imperial authorities. His intention, it was said, being to open negotiations between the German government and the anti-English party in Ireland.

Assurances were said to have been given to Sir Roger that, should the German troops land in Ireland, all native institutions would be respected by them. Sir Roger's followers in Ireland were, according to the report, to give every aid to the Germans.

Washington—General Alvaro Obregon, minister of war of the Mexican government in Mexico, is on his way to American border to confer with Major-General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, regarding the military situation in Mexico.

Information to this effect was conveyed by Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate, to Secretary of State Lansing at a personal interview at the state department. Immediately upon being informed of Obregon's agreement to the conference, Secretary Lansing informed Secretary of War Baker, who sent a telegram directing him to proceed at once to El Paso.

Secretary Lansing informed Mr. Arredondo of the efforts being made by Special Agent James Linn Rogers at Mexico City to bring about a conference between General Obregon and General Scott and the department was awaiting the outcome of this conference, before making a reply. When he returned to the state department, the Mexican ambassador informed Mr. Lansing that he had just received from General Obregon a telegram stating that General Obregon would start for the border at once.

It is understood that the conference will take place either at El Paso or Juarez. While it is expected that the two military men will meet within the next 48 hours, Mr. Arredondo stated that it was impossible to predict the exact time.

Whether Major-General Obregon will be present is not known, although it is thought likely that General Scott will request him to attend the meeting.

BRITISH TAKE ROGER CASEMENT

PRO-GERMAN IRISH LEADER CAPTURED TRYING TO LAND ARMS IN IRELAND.

GERMAN AUXILIARY IS SUNK

A Large Number of Prisoners Were Made Among Them Being Sir Roger Casement.

London—Sir Roger Casement has been captured from a German ship which attempted to land arms in Ireland and was sunk.

This official announcement was made as follows: "During the period between the afternoon of April 20 and the afternoon of April 21, an attempt to land arms and ammunition in Ireland was made by a vessel using the disguise of a neutral merchant ship, but in reality a German naval auxiliary, in conjunction with a German submarine. The auxiliary sank and a large number of prisoners were made, among them being Sir Roger Casement."

posit the questions or their objections in the box which will be found at the entrance of the church, and the Missionary

Father will answer them before the sermon every night.

We extend a hearty invitation to all people regardless of what denomination they may belong. Non-Catholics received as cordial welcome as Catholics. Father Kirkfleet is a forcible speaker, will by his eloquence amply repay you for the trouble you will experience in coming to the church, and will by his lucid explanations clear away many misunderstandings between Protestants and Catholics.

A Most Cordial Invitation is extended to all.

Masonic Party.

The ninth annual ball of the Masonic lodge of Grayling was an affair of the past, but it was one of those fine occasions, which will remain as a most pleasant remembrance to those who were in attendance, Wednesday evening.

The party was given in the High school gymnasium which is a most ideal place for such a gathering. The decorations were beautiful, having the appearance of a Japanese garden. Small Japanese parasols and lanterns were gracefully suspended from the ceiling and arranged in a very artistic manner. The iron supports of the balcony were covered by small pine trees. The dining room was also splendidly decorated, with blue and white paper and Japanese lanterns.

There were about 250 in attendance and every one was in the best of spirits. Clark's orchestra was reinforced by several out-of-town musicians and the music was very good. Tiny paper Japanese lanterns were passed to the ladies, which proved to be Japanese fans and gave a real summer garden appearance as they were swayed to and fro.

The gentlemen also received fans, that on first appearance were cigars. Another pleasing feature of the affair was a whole two-step. During this dance the call to form in line was given and while marching around the room, young girls passed out paper chrysanthemums of every hue, which added to the gaiety and pleasure of the party. Everyone had a splendid time and many were reluctant to leave.

The Eastern Star ladies served the lunch and everything was delicious and very nicely served. The Masons surely were most generous in giving their friends so much pleasure, as is Because the material did not arrive in time for the children to be taught their parts, the "Tom Thumb Wedding" had to be declared off. The director came but refused to put on the play without proper preparation.

The South Side first grade enjoyed an Easter egg hunt Friday afternoon. Directly after recess the fun began. During the week the children had made nests and colored the eggs for handwork.

MAKES LARGER, WHITER, SWEETER LOAVES, AND ELIMINATES FAILURES

HO-MAYDE HAS REVOLUTIONIZED BREAD MAKING. THOUSANDS OF WOMEN TESTIFY

Absolutely dependable results in bread making are now possible under all conditions. The use of Ho-Mayde, a Bread Improver which has been endorsed by women living in all sections of the United States and Canada. The Bread Improver not only eliminates all possible chance of failures on Bake Day, but makes larger, whiter and sweeter loaves. "Ho-Mayde is an absolutely pure and wholesome product, which accelerates the yeast action and shortens the time of bread making to a considerable extent," said G. I. Chapin, general manager of the Ho-Mayde Products Co. of Detroit. "It also imparts wonderful keeping qualities to the bread which does not dry out so quickly. The loaves are not only whiter, as a result of using Ho-Mayde, but are much larger." In fact, housewives have found that Ho-Mayde makes an extra loaf with the same baking materials.

The Ho-Mayde Products Co., which is sending sample packages of Ho-Mayde to all women upon request, has received endorsements of the Bread Improver from several women's magazines whose editors have carefully investigated Ho-Mayde. Teachers of Domestic Science have commended the Bread Improver. It has been asserted that Ho-Mayde will play a prominent part in reviving bread making which, for the average woman, is almost a lost art."

CUTS STEEL OUTPUT

Shortage in Ferro-Manganese Is Becoming Serious.

Many Important Plants Threatened With Enforced Curtailment—South American Ore Largely Controlled by Allies.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The seriousness of the shortage in the United States at the present time of ferro-manganese as an alloy in making steel is disclosed by reports that unless the situation is speedily relieved many important steel works will have to curtail the production of raw steel, while not a few of the smaller open-hearth plants will have to suspend operations entirely. Pittsburgh reports intimate that manganese prices may be expected to reach the unprecedented figure of $200 a ton or even more.

Manganese is used as an alloy for steel employed in work which requires that the metal shall possess both hardness and durability, such as rock-crushing machinery, railway crossings, mine-car wheels and safes. Manganese bronze propellers have in recent years been fitted to nearly all high-speed warships and express steamships. Propeller blades made of manganese composition will bend under a blow, but seldom break, and frequently all that is necessary to make a bent manganese blade good is to hammer it back into shape. The blow that would snap clean off a steel blade of a propeller only softens, usually, to bend one made of manganese.

While there have been scattered deposits of manganese ore found in the United States, the supply is unstable, and it may be said that practically all the manganese used in steel making in this country is imported.

The principal sources of supply of manganese ore are India, South America and Russia. Between the years 1910 and 1914 the United States imported manganese ore in values of $1,592,073, for 1910; $2,196,681, in 1913, and $1,841,451, in 1914. In 1914 Brazil sent to the United States 22,353 tons, British India 115,655 tons and Russia in Asia, 63,220 tons. In 1912 the Russian Black sea ports forwarded directly to the United States 37,753 tons. This source of supply has now been entirely cut off owing to the closing of the Dardanelles.

The United States Steel corporation vessels employed in carrying steel products for export to the far West have been employed in carrying manganese ore cargoes. It is said on two voyages. The United States Steel corporation is declared to be exclusively for the British government, and is unavailable for use by the United States. There still remain the supplies obtainable in Brazil, but according to current reports the Brazilian manganese is largely controlled now by the allies. What South American manganese is reaching the United States is wholly inadequate to the demand.

Manganese steel contains about twelve per cent of manganese and 1.5 per cent of carbon. The alloy was first known as Hadfield's manganese. It is essentially affected by the rate of cooling. Sudden cooling makes the metal extra brittle, while slow cooling makes it brittle. In this respect the behavior is the opposite to that of carbon steel. The great hardness of manganese, however, is offset by the rate of cooling.

In the shortage of manganese in the United States at the present time steel makers are as much concerned over the question of future supply as they are at the prospect of immediately advancing prices.

The situation with reference to manganese is shared largely by high speed steel. Chromium and tungsten enter largely into the making of high-speed steel, and the making of high-speed steel tools has been to a very great extent a British industry.

The British government, it is understood, will not permit any high speed steel to be exported at present, and it is now well known impossible to obtain high speed cutting tools in this country.

The introduction of chromium and tungsten into steel mixtures yields a red-hardness which makes it possible for tools to cut metals even when the temperature of the cutting tool under a high speed drive is raised to 800 degrees Centigrade, or 1,412 degrees Fahrenheit. This heat is occasioned by the friction under the high speed working. In consequence of high speed, steel machinists can cut down metal with a lathe nearly six times as fast as with carbon steel tools.

Manganese is used also in high speed steel, the amount of manganese employed varying from .07 to .11, with chromium varying from .55 to .547, tungsten .17 to .18 and carbon .068 to .087.

As a result of the scarcity of high speed steel in the United States the rate of production in leading machinery works has been greatly affected. The fact that there is plenty of high speed steel in the United Kingdom, it is said, accounts for one reason why the British are now able, as reported, to equal the output figures of American munitions plants.

ST. CYR AND HIS WIFE

Jean Harold Edward St. Cyr's marriage to society women who were double, or nearly double, his age, has astonished society of two continents. His first wife was Mrs. Caroline Redfield, who died a year ago last January. During the following April he married his present wife, who was the widow of James Henry ("Silent") Smith, the millionaire. St. Cyr is a man of many graces and social accomplishments, he is said to be John Henry Edward Thompson of Waco, Tex., formerly a newsboy, hotel clerk, haberdasher's salesman and chorus man.

TREE AGAIN DEFENDS HOUSE

Six Times It Has Kept Wild Autos From Entering Home in Cleveland.

Cleveland.—For the sixth time in five years a large tree in Deputy Police Clerk A. J. Kozelka's yard, No. 4506 Clark avenue, Southwest, has saved the house from being damaged.

West Forty-sixth street dead-end at Clark avenue. The other night Al Holmeyer, riding with Mrs. Holmeyer in an automobile, could not get the machine to turn right to go to work, and crashed through the Kozelka's fence into the yard.

The tree, which is a large oak, is said to be the best of its kind in the city. It is the second time this year and the sixth time in five years it has saved the house.

PLUMBERS MUST NOT RIDE

Elkhart Union Forbids Them to Go on Bicycles for Short Trips.

Elkhart, Ind.—"No wait!" has been the slogan of Elkhart plumbers since they passed a rule by the union forbidding the use of bicycle or motorcycle in going to and from short jobs.

The union is a 55-day union, and is permitted under the rule to ride to work for all-day tasks, and to use wheels at the noon lunch hour, but they must not make intervening trips on wheels. They may be passengers at any time in vehicles provided by their regular employers.

The rule was the result of a boat at a union meeting of one of the men that he had completed an unusually large number of "short jobs" during that particular day, chiefly because he used a bicycle.

GERMAN WOMEN SELL HAIR

Mother and Daughter Send Tresses to the United States to Aid Soldiers.

Denver, Colo.—To obtain funds for nursing in a military hospital conducted by their husband and father, Mrs. Louis E. Ries of Karlsruhe, Germany, and her daughter, twenty years old, have sent their hair to Mrs. Francis Bode, Mrs. Ries' sister here, for sale. It has become the practice for women in Germany to sell their hair, and Mrs. Bode has already sold the hair of one of her little nieces for $25 for the same purpose.

$20,000 PAYS FOR KINDNESS

Stranger Nursed by Texas Family While Ill Repays by Leaving Them His Life Insurance.

Plainview, Tex.—After having nursed through a fatal illness a laborer, apparently lacking means of support, Mrs. J. D. Earnest and her daughters here have learned that their patient, J. M. Tuggle of Macon, Ga., before his death, bequeathed them $20,000 life insurance. Tuggle arrived recently seeking work, and was befriended by the Earnest family. He was said to have been a member of several fraternal orders.

Safe Medicine for Children.

"Is it safe?" is the first question to be considered when buying cough medicine for children. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has long been a favorite with mothers of young children, as it contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. It is pleasant to take, too, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. This remedy is most effective in relieving coughs, colds and croup. Obtainable everywhere.

IN BEST OF STYLE

EXCELLENT DESIGN FOR POPULAR FOUR-GORED SKIRT.

Simple, but Distinctly Effective and Even Striking in Appearance—May Be Worn Either With or Without a Collar.

So simple that a child could make it, and yet in good style, is the design for a dress with a four-gored skirt, shown here. The waist is full and loose and yet without the bagginess over the belt that has distinguished waists in the past. It buttons down the front, and that makes it an ideal frock for a college girl or busy woman, both of whom need dresses that can be donned quickly. The pattern is adapted to any material that is suitable for a wearable frock that is not intended for dress occasions.

The frock illustrated is built of midnight blue serge and is trimmed with a band of bright plaid around the skirt, with the same plaid used in the wide belt, collar and cuffs. If desired, pockets, also of plaid, will be very useful and fashionable. This plaid may be either of wool or silk, and silk looks prettier and more dressy. On the other hand, when cleaning is considered, wool trimming will be most practical than silk. If a stripe or plaid is chosen for the dress, then the trimming should be of plain material or of braids.

Now that fitted gumples and stock collars have returned to vogue, frocks of this sort are worn with a neat stock of net or lace. It is not wise to make collars of any but dainty materials, as the skin of the neck becomes ruined if these collars are worn, and a tight collar is bad for the eyes and the neck generally. This dress may be worn either with or without a collar around the throat.

In making a dress of this sort for outdoor wear it must be remembered that "sport clothes" are the very latest thing and these are all short. An outdoor dress is made barely to reach the tops of the high shoes that are now in vogue, and some do not reach that far. Dresses as short as that do not look nice except on young girls. Practically all outdoor sport skirts are trimmed around the bottom, especially with fur.

Organdie Collars.

An organdie collar has reverses scalloped and embroidered, and a high, upright, accordion-plaited frill across the back only. Organdie reverses are thickly dotted with hand-embroidered dots or bars, with high Medici collar dotted and scalloped, wired and worn slightly turned back. Rather stiff organdie with fine handwork is used for collar and cuffs and vests. A vest of organdie in fine tucks is attached to a high collar, with a narrow embroidered turnover, light, showing on both parts, and a cross ribbon over the collar passes through slits in front, leaving the edges of a fichu about an inch and a half apart.

An elaborate style of organdie collar has a frill of oriental lace on the lower edge to the shoulder only. A partly closed round turnover of embroidered organdie is worn with a short tied cravat of black velvet ribbon.

Ribbon Trimmings.

Ribbons trimmed many of the charming evening dresses in a recent display of new French models. One of the prettiest arrangements was a succession of graduated widths of white ribbon in a tulle dance frock. The ribbons were not gathered, but the skirt was, and each band of ribbon was set an inch above the next, the widest ribbon being at the bottom and the narrowest at the top. Pendants falling from the waist line on long ribbons were another interesting ribbon feature.

You may be next! Why don't you buy some Fire Insurance?

Geo. L. Alexander & Son.

Why Constipation Injures.

The bowels are the natural sewerage system of the body. When they become obstructed by constipation a part of the poisonous matter which they should carry off is absorbed into the system, making you feel dull and stupid, and interfering with the digestion and assimilation of food. This condition is quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Tablets. Obtainable everywhere.

PICKLING CARROTS AND BEETS

Winter Vegetables Are Invaluable for Replenishing the Cupboard—Fixing Sweet Peppers.

For pickling baby carrots great care must be taken in choosing firm and well-ripened vegetables. The advantage of preparing these winter vegetables is that they can be pickled or canned with much greater ease than in the summer when a warm kitchen is an abhorrence. A few cans of carrots, beets or peppers are a real addition to the season's store without extra cost of any sort.

Boil the carrots until tender and then rub off the skins in cold water. Cut them up (unless you are using the young carrots I mentioned above, in that case use them whole). Pour cold vinegar over them; add a slice of onion, two bay leaves, and a teaspoonful of celery seed to each one-half dozen carrots. Do up in airtight jars, and let the jars stand upside down over night and if any liquid runs out, screw them up a little more tightly the next morning.

Pickled beets may be treated in the same way. Use one dozen good-sized beets, two quarts of vinegar, one-quarter of an ounce of mace, one-quarter of an ounce of ginger, one salt-spoonful of pepper, two tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish.

Boil the beets until tender, then remove the skins and cut them up, placing them in jars. Put the vinegar into a porcelain-lined kettle, adding mace, ginger and pepper. When this reaches the boiling point take from the fire; then add horseradish and pour, hot, over the beets. Seal up in airtight jars, using the same test for tightness.

Red and green sweet peppers may be put up too. Cut a slice from the stem end of each pepper and take out the seeds, then cut it into a thin strip, going round and round the pepper with a sharp knife. Cover with boiling water for two minutes; drain, and place in a food water for ten minutes. Drain again and pack into glass jars. Boil vinegar in proportion of one quart to two cupsful of sugar—fifteen minutes. Fill the jars and store in a cold place.

RAISINS A VALUABLE FOOD

Their Value Is Too Frequently Ignored—Some Breakfasts That Are a Little Different.

Try combining for breakfast prunes or raisins, cooked, drained and mashed and slightly sweetened, with an omelet, spreading a cupful of them on their before folding over. Dried apples which have been soaked and well-drained may be fried like fresh apples and served with the bacon. A pound of dates cooked with a pint of cornmeal, a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of flour and a pint of cold milk will vary the morning mush. A cupful of stoned, chopped dates is an agreeable addition to apple sauce, added when the apples are almost cooked. Baked apples are delicious if the centers are filled with stewed prunes. If cooked prunes or dates are chopped fine they may be added to the breakfast muffins, thus giving variety to an everyday dish. Many a child who will not eat cereal in the morning can be tempted to do so if chopped dates or figs are allowed to simmer a few minutes and then mixed with the cereal, or placed around it.

Don't leave your raisin jar on the shelf, using it only occasionally, for this most valuable dried fruit will supply elements necessary to health at a minimum cost. When properly packed in bread they are almost ideal food for children.—Woman's World.

Dinner Sweet.

Make one-half pound of good short pastry and roll out very thin. Cut into two even sized lengths and spread with the mixture given below, place the two strips together. Bake in a hot oven. Sift sugar over and cut into fingers.

For the mixture mince six good-sized apples, put them into a basin with three ounces of currants, two ounces of bread crumbs, pinch of mixed spice, grated lemon rind, three ounces of brown sugar, one ounce of melted butter. Mix well together and use as directed.

Lamb Kidneys With Beans.

Split six kidneys in halves and remove the thin outer skin. Fry six slices of bacon until crisp. Remove them from the fat and keep hot. Dip the kidneys in flour and brown quickly on both sides in the bacon fat. When brown add hot water to nearly cover, a tablespoonful of tomato catch up, a tablespoonful of table sauce, and cook for five minutes, keeping them just below the boiling point. Serve on a hot platter, with the bacon as a garnish.

RESULT OF HAM CONTEST.

Globe Brand the Favorite of Grayling People.

Last week when a representative of the Hammond-Standish Co. of Detroit, protested to Frank H. Milks that his market wasn't selling more of their Apex hams, Mr. Milks stated that there was a greater demand for Globe hams.

Claiming that the Apex hams were the best, a contest was arranged between the Hammond-Standish company and the Plankinton Packing company, makers of the Apex and Globe hams, respectively, wherein a slice of each was to be furnished free to families as a reward to test them and report their choice to this paper.

Two hams of each variety were sliced and given away, and Monday reports began coming in, and it appears that the Globe brand must have made a great hit for all but two families reported the Globe as their choice.

Both brands are delicious but there is a flavor about the Globe brand that seems to "touch the spot" just right. The following registered their choice in favor of the Globe brand: Messdames C. T. Jerome, O. W. Roeser, Frank Neller, Charles Sullivan, Julius Nelson, John Olsen, A. C. Olson, O. P. Schumann, Andy Larson, A. J. Joseph, L. J. Kraus, Geo. E. Smith, Robert Koulm Sr. and Paul Ziebell.

The two families reporting in favor of the Apex hams were those of Walter Cowell and O. W. Hanson.

Thomas Kechittago Dead.

Thomas Kechittago, a well known Indian character in this vicinity, passed away early last Monday morning at Meroy hospital, where he had been receiving treatment for the past couple of weeks for a severe attack of rheumatism.

Mr. Kechittago had been in a feeble condition for several months past, as also has been his wife, Mr. Kechittago's exact age is not known, but it was somewhere in the eighties.

Thomas Kechittago, a Chippewa Indian of Saginaw county, in 1863, was mustered into the United States service, May 23 of that year, as Sergeant of Co. K, 1st Regiment of Michigan Vol. Sharp Shooters, under Col. Deland of Jackson. He served in that capacity until the close of the war, July 26, 1865 and was honorably discharged.

He came with his family to Grayling early in the '90s and was mustered into the U. S. Army at Meroy, Mich. Post No. 240, U. S. A. R. April 13, 1895, since which time he has been an honored member, serving most of the time as Guard and color bearer of the Post.

Mr. Kechittago has ever been recognized as an honorable and respected citizen, differing from many of his own people, in that, by his labor, he has been thoroughly independent and sustained a comfortable home for his family who he had lived for more than 80 years. He, with his wife, have been consistent members of the M. E. church for many years, from where his body was laid to rest in the cemetery, yesterday morning and laid beside their two children, who had gone before. His wife survives, but her physical condition and age makes it almost sure that she will join him very soon. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mitchell and attended by nearly every soldier here, whose health would permit. The ladies of the G. A. R. attended in a body to pay their last respects.

LAPEER PAINTER GIVES OUT FACTS.
Richard Davis Tells of An Interesting Experience With Tanlac.

"Stomach trouble was long standing served to consume my whole health. I became run down and never got any better until I used Tanlac," said Richard Davis, a well-known painter, Michigan, painter and paper hanger, in a recent interview.

"I now am heartily in favor of Tanlac because I know that it will do what is claimed for it."
"I was so nervous," confides J. M. Davis, "that I could not get the proper amount of sleep. Consequently, I lost much strength and energy. I never felt like I had any life to me at all. I was always tired and listless. My condition was generally run down and I could get no better until I used Tanlac."

"I saw Tanlac advertised and, becoming interested, got a bottle of the medicine. It has restored my appetite and has given me much strength and vigor. I feel much better since using the remedy and want all who suffer as I did to try Tanlac."

Tanlac may be obtained here at the store of A. M. Lewis.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it thru the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75 cents per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Spring.
Spring is looked upon by many as the most delightful season of the year, but this cannot be said of the rheumatic. The cold and damp weather brings on rheumatic pains, which are anything but pleasant. They can be relieved, however, by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Apply liberally every where.

The general public is cordially invited to inspect the new hotel, "Shophavenor's Inn," on Saturday afternoon April 29th, from two to five o'clock. A buffet luncheon will be served gratis.
